

Circle

1. A circle is the locus of a point which moves in such a manner that its distance from a fixed point (or from plane) is constant. This fixed point is called the centre and the constant distance is called the radius of the circle.
2. A line segment joining two points on a circle is called the chord of the circle.
3. A chord passing through the centre of the circle is called a diameter of the circle.
4. A line segment joining the centres of two circles is called the line segment of the circles.

5. A line which intersects a circle at two distinct points is called the secant of the circle.

In the figure, AB is a secant of the circle.

6. A segment or a straight line which intersects the circle only at one point is called a tangent to the circle and the point of contact is called the point of contact.

In the figure, CD is a tangent to the circle and C is the point of contact.
