Roeber, 2024-01-02 A distinctive and unrivaled examination of North American Eastern Orthodox Christians and their encounter with the rights revolution in a pluralistic American society From the civil rights movement of the 1950s to the culture wars of North America commentators have identified the partisans bent on pursuing different rights claims When religious identity surfaces as a key determinant in how the pursuit of rights occurs both the religious right and liberal believers remain the focus of how each contributes to making rights demands How Orthodox Christians in North America have navigated the rights revolution however remains largely unknown From the disagreements over the rights of the First Peoples of Alaska to arguments about the rights of transgender persons Orthodox Christians have engaged an Anglo American legal and constitutional rights tradition But they see rights claims through the lens of an inherited focus on the dignity of the human person In a pluralistic society and culture Orthodox Christians both converts and those with family roots in Orthodox countries share with non Orthodox fellow citizens the challenge of reconciling conflicting rights claims Those claims do pit religious liberty rights claims against perceived dangers from outside the Orthodox Church But internal disagreements about the rights of clergy and people within the Church accompany the Orthodox Christian engagement with debates over gender sex and marriage as well as expanding political legal and human rights claims Despite their small

Preservation and Protest Ryan Patrick McLaughlin, 2014-11-01 Preservation and Protest proposes a novel taxonomy of four paradigms of nonhuman theological ethics by exploring the intersection of tensions between value terms and teleological terms McLaughlin systematically develops the paradigm of cosmocentric transfiguration arguing that the entire cosmos shares in the eschatological hope of a harmonious participation in God s triune life With this paradigm McLaughlin offers an alternative to anthropocentric and conservationist paradigms within the Christian tradition an alternative that affirms both scientific claims about natural history and the theological hope for eschatological redemption
