Confucian Thought Suny Series In Philosophy:

Confucian Thought Tu Wei-ming, 1985-06-30 Tu Wei ming is the foremost exponent of Confucian thought in the United States today Over the last two decades he has been developing a creative scholarly interpretation of Confucian humanism as a living tradition The result is a work of interpretive brilliance that revitalizes Confucian thought making it a legitimate concern of contemporary philosophical reflections John Dewey and Confucian Thought Jim Behuniak, 2019-07-24 Assesses John Dewey's visit to China in 1919-21 as an intra cultural episode and promotes Chinese natural philosophy as a philosophical context in which to understand the connections between Dewey's philosophy and early Confucian thinking In this conclusion to his two volume series Jim Behuniak builds upon the groundbreaking work begun in John Dewey and Daoist Thought in arguing that Chinese natural philosophy is the proper hermeneutical context in which to understand early Confucianism First he traces Dewey's late period cultural turn in more detail and then proceeds to assess Dewey's visit to China in 1919-21 as a multifaceted intra cultural episode one that includes not only what Dewey taught his Chinese audiences but also what he learned in China and what we stand to learn from this encounter today Dewey in China provides an opportunity to continue establishing specific philosophical relationships between Dewey and Confucian thought for the purpose of getting ourselves back in gear with contemporary thinking in the social and natural sciences To this end Behuniak critically assesses readings of early Chinese thought reliant on outdated Greek medieval assumptions paying particular attention to readings of early Confucianism that rely heavily on Western virtue ethics such as the Heaven's plan reading Topics covered include education tradition ethics the family human nature and religiousness thus engaging Dewey with themes generally associated with Confucian thought Attacking the distinction of Eastern versus Western philosophical cultures these volumes create a detailed intra cultural Deweyan Chinese thought on many levels at once Using Dewey to reinterpret the Daoist and Confucian traditions from their sources Behuniak weaves an intra cultural philosophical trajectory that stretches from the sixth century BCE China to Columbia University in New York City The result is one of the philosophical masterpieces of our time Robert Cummings Neville Professor Emeritus of Philosophy Religion and Theology Boston University A Theology of Dao Kim, Heup Young, 2017-06-22 Bibliography on East Asian Religion and Philosophy, 2001 This comprehensive research bibliography compiles annotates indexes and cross references resources in the principal Western languages which focus on China Japan and Korea in the areas of philosophy and religious studies supporting resources in theology history culture and related social sciences A notable additional feature is the inclusion of extensive Internet based resources such as a wide variety of web sites discussion lists electronic texts virtual libraries online journals and related material Ultimate Realities Robert C. Neville, 2001-01-01 Explores ultimate realities in a range of world religions and discusses the issue and philosophical implications of comparison itself Order and Transcendence, 2021-12-06 The Quest Lyman C.D. Kulathungam, 2012-04-25 The human spirit seems incapable of being stagnant ever pushing the boundaries of knowledge and experience We try to understand life through questions regarding our own existence the nature of the universe and the nature of God The question of our collective heart is the external manifestation of an internal longing a quest if you will This thirst to understand reality can be seen in superstructures that are scientific social political and especially religious When considering the doctrines institutions and rituals of religions we observe certain core aspirations expressed by the people of these communities These aspirations generate from an underlying quest which seeks a way out of our perceived predicament a salvific quest Regardless of whether we view ourselves as religious pre religious post religious or non religious we find ourselves involved in such a quest it seems to be an integral part of our human personhood Using a unique framework of analysis this book explores Christ s relevance to the quest expressed by the communities of eight major living religions a relevance that neither degrades Christ nor demeans other saviors Christ is not part of the human quest but is well equipped to satisfy that quest Musing with Confucius and Paul K. K. Yeo, 2008-07-20

The book is a manifesto or apologia for Chinese Christians It seeks to articulate how it is possible to maintain a Chinese identity and a Christian identity at the same time without capitulating to some western or other cultural model of Christian identity To be a Chinese Christian is to adopt a distinctive unique identity that owes much to both traditions but is sui generis Providing great resources for the construction of a Chinese Christian theology Confucius and Paul converge across a surprisingly broad front Yet the Christ of the Cross completes or extends what is merely implicit or absent in Confucius and Confucius amplifies various elements of Christian faith e g community virtues that are underplayed in western Christianity The Christ of God as found in Paul s letter to the Galatians brings Confucian ethics in the Analects to its fulfillment while protecting the church from the aberrations of Chinese history and while protecting China against the aberrations of Christian history in the west Chinese Christianity has something to give the church that needs to be heard China can develop its distinctive vision of Christianity for the sake of the church universal Chinese Christianity will have its global mission if it can find its own authentic Chinese Christian identity Insofar as that identity brings the best of the Confucian tradition into the Christian story it will help revivify global Christianity Self-Cultivation in Chinese and Greco-Roman Philosophy David Machek, 2025-05-15

In early China and ancient Greece self cultivation was considered crucial for leading a flourishing fulfilled life In this cross cultural study David Machek presents and interprets six influential Greek and Chinese self cultivation theories advocated by Mengzi Zhuangzi and Xunzi as well as Plato Aristotle and the Stoics in order to put forward the overarching narrative that self cultivation amounts to strengthening the best part of the human self the heart in the Chinese context and the mind in the Greek context Advancing new readings of classic texts Machek shows that Greek approaches to self cultivation privilege intellectual pursuits while Chinese approaches give more weight to non intellectual activities such as learning manual crafts and performing rituals He also demonstrates how both ancient traditions understand the self as a heterogeneous community of organic entities each needing different provisions to flourish which aligns the ancient Greek view closer to the early Chinese view As such this book reinforces the underlying structural and conceptual similarities between the two traditions and makes an important contribution to diversifying philosophical conversations

A Double Vision Hermeneutic Samuel Hio-Kee Ooi, 2015-02-26 The aim of this thesis is to unfold the multilayered intersubjective experience of the author himself a Chinese pastor The author postulates himself as the subject in whom the said experience was evident so that it can be analyzed and interpreted The author argues for a cultural linguistic experience of shi as the locus at which the intersubjective experience takes place He then shows that such experience embodies a Chinese Christian s two texts inheritance and argues that it is through unfolding or revealing of such experience that the nature of his relationship with them can be demonstrated
