Citizen Action For Global Change Citizen Action For Global Change:

Global Citizen Action Michael Edwards, John Gaventa, 2014-04-08 Civil society or citizen s groups have taken centre stage in international policy debates and global problem solving They hold out the promise of a global community and global governance This volume by leading scholars and participants shows how to understand the changes that are occurring particularly in relation to the international institutions involved It includes case studies from all the major social movements of the 1990s Energy Policy Act of 1992 and the President's Climate Change Action Plan United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, 1994 Distributed to some depository libraries in microfiche Community Action and Climate Change Jennifer Kent, 2015-11-19 The failure of recent international negotiations to progress global action on climate change has shifted attention to the emergence of grassroots sustainability initiatives These civil society networks display the potential to implement social innovation and change processes from the bottom up Recent scholarship has sought to theorise grassroots community based low carbon practices in terms of their sustainability transition potential However there are few empirical examples that demonstrate the factors for success of community based social innovations in achieving more widespread adoption outside of their local sustainability niche The book seeks to address two significant gaps related to grassroots climate action firstly the continuing dominance of the individualisation of responsibility for climate change action which presupposes that individuals hold both the ability and desire to shift their behaviours and lifestyle choices to align with a low carbon future Secondly the potential for community based collectives to influence mainstream climate change governance an area significantly under researched Drawing on empirical research into Australian Climate Action Groups CAGs and related international research the book argues that grassroots community based collective action on climate change holds the key to broader social change This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change citizen participation environmental sociology and sustainable development Journalism and Climate Crisis Robert Hackett, Susan Forde, Shane Gunster, Kerrie Foxwell-Norton, 2017-02-17 Journalism and Climate Crisis Public Engagement Media Alternatives recognizes that climate change is more than an environmental crisis It is also a question of political and communicative capacity This book enquires into which approaches to journalism as a particularly important form of public communication can best enable humanity to productively address climate crisis The book combines selective overviews of previous research normative enquiry what should journalism be doing and original empirical case studies of environmental communication and media coverage in Australia and Canada Bringing together perspectives from the fields of environmental communication and journalism studies the authors argue for forms of journalism that can encourage public engagement and mobilization to challenge the powerful interests vested in a high carbon economy facilitative and radical roles particularly well suited to alternative media and alternative journalism Ultimately the book argues for a fundamental rethinking of relationships between journalism publics democracy and climate crisis This book will interest researchers students and activists in environmental politics social movements and the media

National Governance and the Global Climate Change Regime Dana Fisher, 2004-06 How do domestic interests affect international policymaking What is the role of the nation state within multilateral regimes How can we understand the diversity of state responses to the internationalization of environmental regulation National Governance and the Global Climate Change Regime compares the roles of different actors and institutions in international environmental policymaking It focuses on the formation of a legally binding treaty to reduce greenhouse gases the Kyoto Protocol to show how domestic interests affect international treaty negotiations Dana Fisher combines quantitative analysis of social economic and environmental data for the member states of the OECD with qualitative case studies of three key countries the United States Japan and the Netherlands She argues compellingly that domestic debates within states and subsequent national policy formation have a significantly larger role in international environmental regime formation than many scholars recognize

Climate Change and Society Fátima Alves ,Luísa

Schmidt, 2022-11-01 From Summits to Solutions Hiroshi Kato, Raj M. Desai, Homi Kharas, 2018-07-24 A positive agenda for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals by 2030 All 193 member nations of the United Nations agreed in September 2015 to adopt a set of seventeen Sustainable Development Goals to be achieved by 2030 Each of the goals in such areas as education and health care is laudable in and of itself and governments and organizations are working hard on them But so far there is no overall positive agenda of what new things need to be done to ensure the goals are achieved across all nations In a search of fresh approaches to the longstanding problems targeted by the Sustainable Development Goals the Japan International Cooperation Agency and the Global Economy and Development program at Brookings mounted a collaborative research effort to advance implementation of Agenda 2030 This edited volume is the product of that effort The book approaches the UN s goals through three broad lenses The first considers new approaches to capturing value Examples include Nigeria s first green bonds practical methods to expand women s economic opportunities benchmarking to reflect business contributions to achieving the goals new incentives for investment in infrastructure and educational systems that promote cross sector problem solving The second lens entails new approaches to targeting places including oceans rural areas fast growing developing cities and the interlocking challenge of data systems including geospatial information generated by satellites The third lens focuses on updating governance broadly defined Issues include how civil society can align with the SDG challenge how an advanced economy like Canada can approach the goals at home and abroad what needs to be done to foster new approaches for managing the global commons and how can multilateral institutions for health and development finance evolve

Mediating Climate Change

Dr Julie Doyle, 2013-01-28 Climate change has been a significant area of scientific concern since the late 1970s but has only recently entered mainstream culture and politics However as media coverage of climate change increases in the twenty first century the gap between our understanding of climate change and climate action appears to widen In this timely book Julie Doyle explores how practices of mediation and visualisation shape how we think about address and act upon climate change Through historical and contemporary case studies drawn from science media politics and culture Mediating Climate Change identifies the representational problems climate change poses for public and political debate It offers ways forward by exploring how climate change can be made more meaningful through for example innovative forms of climate activism the reframing of meat and dairy consumption media engagement with climate events and science and artistic experimentation Doyle argues that cultural discourses have problematically situated nature and the environment as objects externalised from humans and culture Mediating Climate Change calls for a more nuanced understanding of human environmental relations in order for us to be able to more fully imagine and address the challenges climate change poses for us all Environmental Politics Shannon O'Lear,2010-08-19

Shannon O Lear brings a geographer s perspective to environmental politics The book considers issues of climate change energy food security toxins waste and resource conflict to explore how political economic ideological and military power have contributed to the generation of environmental issues and the formation of dominant narratives about them The book encourages the reader to think critically about the power dynamics that shape and limit how we think about environmental issues and to expand the reader s understanding of why it matters that these issues are discussed at particular spatial scales Applying a geographer s sense of scale and power leads to a better understanding of the complexity of environmental issues and will help formulate mitigation and adaptation strategies The book will appeal mainly to advanced students and researchers from a geography background but also to social and political scientists who wish to look at the topic from this different perspective Science, Faith and the Climate Crisis Sally Myers,Sarah Hemstock,Edward Hanna,2020-06-17

Inspired by a 2019 conference Moana Water of Life and including real life insights from a diverse range of participants this book showcases the potential fruits of open dialogue between stakeholders to navigate the critical challenges to planetary health caused by the climate crisis
