Understanding Consumer Choice G. Foxall,2005-03-11 Understanding Consumer Choice shows how attempts to relate consumers attitudes and actions have implicitly incorporated measures of the very variables at the heart of a situational theory of consumer choice These are the buyer s consumption history and the physical and social setting in which consumer behaviour occurs The book explores the capacity of the resulting model to explain consumer behaviour in retail and consumption situations and to elucidate brand choice The result is a novel interrogation of cognitive and behavioural perspectives an overarching philosophy for consumer research

Responsibility Collapses Stephen Kershner,2023-12-01 Our emotions beliefs and values assume that a person is responsible for what she thinks and does and that this is a good thing This book argues that this worldview is false It provides arguments for this conclusion that build on the free will and responsibility literatures in original and insightful ways

Beyond Safety Accountability E. Scott Geller,2001-10-01 Written in an easy to read conversational tone Beyond Safety Accountability explains how to develop an organizational culture that encourages people to be accountable for their work practices and to embrace a higher sense of personal responsibility The author begins by thoroughly explaining the difference between safety accountability and safety responsibility He then examines the need of organizations to improve safety performance discusses why such performance improvement can be achieved through a continuous safety process as distinguished from a safety program and provides the practical tools you can use to build personal responsibility in your workplace

Psychology's Contribution to Socio-Cultural, Political, and Individual Emancipation Carl Ratner,2019-10-29 This book articulates how psychologists can use their theory research and intervention to generate insights into emancipatory social change that is necessary to solve social and psychological problems These include racism sexism civil rights poverty militarism education and politics Psychology was not developed to directly address social issues It must therefore be reconceptualised to fulfil this aim In this book Carl Ratner makes use of Vygotsky s psychological approach known as cultural historical psychology supplemented by Martin Baro s Liberation Psychology and the work of Bourdieu and Foucault to develop an emancipatory psychological theory This approach is then utilized to lay out a specific program of social and psychological emancipation This reconstructed psychological theory is also used to evaluate populist movements that aim at social and psychological emancipation Ratner posits that populism is inadequate to solve social and psychological problems because it misunderstands the nature of society and what it takes to improve society and psychology This is demonstrated through wide ranging examples including populist feminism populist socialism and populist distortions of liberation psychology and cultural historical psychology This lively critique opens a pathway for academic across the social sciences concerned with how their disciplines can be oriented toward understanding and solving social psychological problems and will appeal to wide readership including policy makers and social activists Personal Control in Action

Miroslaw Kofta,Gifford Weary,Grzegorz Sedek,1998-06-30 This new study presents exciting international research developments on personal control and self regulation Each chapter examines the subject at a different level of analysis to foster a complete understanding Brief synopses of each chapter are provided as introductions to the three major sections of the book These sections cover the person as an agent of control affective and cognitive mechanisms of executive agency and reactions to threatened control Reform of the Federal Criminal Laws United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on Criminal Laws and Procedures,1971
