

- Brake lining contains asbestos, which can cause cancer. Do not use an air hose to blow off brake assemblies; use only an approved vacuum cleaner, and wear an approved filter mask or respirator.
- Always attach a safety cable when using a hydraulic ram or a frame straightening table; do not stand in direct line with the chains used on such equipment.

BODY SAFETY

Modern stressed-skin bodies are designed so as to have a sturdy passenger cell protected by front and rear crumple zones.

- In an accident the crumple zones are designed to convert impact energy into deformation work.
- The shape, material and metal thickness must all be precisely matched.

- Many years of experience, refined computational methods and expensive series of crash tests mean that DAEWOO now builds bodies giving optimum deformation in the crumple zones in frontal or rear impacts.

When repairing body damage, it is therefore imperative to restore the original structure and strength in order to guarantee the safety of the occupants.

LOADS ON BODY PARTS

- The earlier practice of making a distinction between load bearing and non-loading bearing parts of vehicles with a chassis and body is no longer justified now. Every part, even the windows, contributes to the overall strength of the vehicle.

THEREFORE, WITH MODERN DAEWOO BODIES, ONE TALKS OF HIGHLY STRESSED AND LESS HIGHLY STRESSED PARTS.
