Anime and Manga , Film Policy in a Globalised Cultural Economy John Hill, Nobuko Kawashima, 2018-12-07 The past two decades have witnessed major changes in film industries worldwide in response to both economic globalisation and technological developments. The dominant position of Hollywood movies in the global film market has remained largely uncontested but Hollywood itself has become increasingly international in its operations whilst regional screen industries such as those in East Asia and in the Indian subcontinent have re-emerged and developed new forms of collaboration. The advent of digital technologies has also transformed the content of films and the ways in which they are made and consumed. Such changes in turn have posed new economic and cultural challenges for policy makers around the world and led to a degree of rethinking of how film policy objectives are to be conceived, defined and implemented. This collection brings together a range of international scholars from the USA, Europe and Asia to consider how film policy has responded to the various economic, technological and political shifts shaping the global film industry and to identify the many tensions between global and local economic and cultural and public and private policy objectives that have been the result of these changes. This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Cultural Policy.

Drawing on the Victorians Anna Maria Jones, Rebecca N. Mitchell, 2016-12-15. Late nineteenth century Britain experienced an unprecedented explosion of visual print culture and a simultaneous rise in literacy across social classes. New printing technologies facilitated quick and cheap dissemination of images: illustrated books, periodicals, cartoons, comics and ephemera to a mass readership. This Victorian visual turn prefigured the present-day impact of the Internet on how images are produced and shared, both driving and reflecting the visual culture of its time. From this starting point, Drawing on the Victorians sets out to explore the relationship between Victorian graphic texts and today's steampunk, manga and other neo-Victorian genres that emulate and reinterpret their predecessors. Neo-Victorianism is a flourishing worldwide phenomenon but one whose relationship with the texts from which it takes its inspiration remains underexplored. In this collection, scholars from literary studies, cultural studies and art history consider contemporary works: Alan Moore's League of Extraordinary Gentlemen, Moto Naoko's Lady Victorian and Edward Gorey's Gashlycrumb Tinies among others alongside their antecedents from Punch's 1897 Jubilee issue to Alice in Wonderland and more. They build on previous work on neo-Victorianism to affirm that the past not only influences but converses with the present. Contributors: Christine Ferguson, Kate Flint, Anna Maria Jones, Linda K. Hughes, Heidi Kaufman, Brian Maidment, Rebecca N. Mitchell, Jennifer Phegley, Monika Pietrzak, Franger Peter W. Sinnema, Jessica Straley.
