Automatic Speech Signal Analysis for Clinical Diagnosis and Assessment of Speech Disorders Ladan Baghai-Ravary, Steve W. Beet, 2012-08-09 Automatic Speech Signal Analysis for Clinical Diagnosis and Assessment of Speech Disorders provides a survey of methods designed to aid clinicians in the diagnosis and monitoring of speech disorders such as dysarthria and dyspraxia with an emphasis on the signal processing techniques statistical validity of the results presented in the literature and the appropriateness of methods that do not require specialized equipment rigorously controlled recording procedures or highly skilled personnel to interpret results Such techniques offer the promise of a simple and cost effective yet objective assessment of a range of medical conditions which would be of great value to clinicians The ideal scenario would begin with the collection of examples of the clients speech either over the phone or using portable recording devices operated by non specialist nursing staff The recordings could then be analyzed initially to aid diagnosis of conditions and subsequently to monitor the clients progress and response to treatment The automation of this process would allow more frequent and regular assessments to be performed as well as providing greater objectivity

Advances in Clinical Phonetics Martin J. Ball, Martin

Duckworth, 1996-10-18 Advances in Clinical Phonetics focuses on important developments in phonetic description. Recent years have seen increasing developments in phonetic description in both instrumental and impressionistic approaches. Not restricted to the phonetics of normal speech, clinical phoneticians and speech scientists working with disordered speech have been at the forefront of recent work. Some instrumental developments such as electropalatography and some transcription developments such as extIPA symbols have been spearheaded by clinical phoneticians. The present collection describes and explores these developments. Part one consists of major accounts of advances in clinical phonetics contributed by major international researchers: Raymond D Kent, William Hardcastle, Martin J Ball and John Local, and Wolfram Ziegler and Erich Hartmann. The second part comprises six chapters where such advances are illustrated in the context of specific case studies by authors from America and Europe: Fiona Gibbon, William Hardcastle, Hilary Dent and Fiona Nixon, Marie Thérèse Le Normand and Claude Chevré, Müller, Kate Moore and Anna Maja Korpijaakko, Huuhka, Martin J Ball and Joan Rahilly, P Dejonckere and G Wieneke, Nigel Hewlett, Nicola Topham and Catherine McMullen, and Shaween Awan. Demonstrating the wideranging and lively nature of the field of clinical phonetics, the current contributions offer building blocks for further developments in phonetic description, both improvements in instrumentation and refinements in impressionistic transcription, leading to an increase in our understanding of the speech production process both in normal and atypical speakers.

Research Methods in Clinical Linguistics and Phonetics Nicole Müller, Martin J. Ball, 2013-10-24 Research Methods in Clinical Linguistics and Phonetics GUIDES TO RESEARCH METHODS IN LANGUAGE AND LINGUISTICS. Up to date and covering a refreshingly wide range of approaches, this is a first rate guide and resource for both practitioners and consumers of research in clinical linguistics and phonetics. Mick Perkins, University of Sheffield. This truly outstanding collection of readings, treating a number of critical issues with great clarity, is certain to be quickly recognized as a valuable resource by the community of researchers. Martin R Gitterman, The City University of New York. Research Methods in Clinical Linguistics and Phonetics introduces a wide range of research philosophies, methods and tools used across linguistics, phonetics and speech science as applied to disordered speech and language. Comprised of sixteen chapters, each authored by specialists representing a variety of approaches, the volume addresses core topics for students undertaking their own research, including experimental and quasi experimental methods, qualitative methods including ethnography and conversation analysis, sociolinguistics, corpus construction and analysis, data recording, transcription and digital analysis of speech. In addition to exploring these and other topics, the volume considers the research ethics associated with working with those who have speech or other communication difficulties. There is a detailed discussion of the dissemination of research results in the form of theses, dissertations and journal articles, and of the peer review process. Chapters include summary boxes to highlight salient information and resources for researchers, such as relevant web archives and tools. It offers students and researchers from a variety of entry points, such as linguistics, education, psychology and speech pathology, an introduction to the scope of
