

CELL CYCLE AND CELL DIVISION

GENERAL BIOLOGY

DNA Molecule

Almost every cell in our bodies has genetic material in the form of deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA).

- Most biological traits such as eye color, hair color, and height are coded for by the DNA.
- DNA, the primary genetic material of living organisms, stores genetic information in the sequences of its nucleotides.
- Positively charged histone proteins aid in DNA Packaging

Chromatin

Interphase DNA is found in the form of chromatin, a complex of DNA and proteins.

- Chromatin is dispersed inside the intact cell nucleus during interphase.

Chromosome

- Chromatin will sometimes need to further condense into a highly coiled and compact structure. This highly condensed form of DNA is known as a chromosome.
- Humans have 46 individual (or 23 pairs of) chromosomes.
