Community-based Heritage in Africa Peter R. Schmidt, 2017-03-03 This volume boldly shifts focus away from top down community engagements usually instigated by elite academic and heritage institutions to examine locally initiated projects Schmidt explores how and why local research initiatives which are often motivated by rapid culture change caused by globalization arose among the Haya people of western Tanzania This frank appraisal privileges local voices and

Schmidt,2019-12-13

Participatory Archaeology and Heritage Studies Perspectives from Africa provides new ways to look at and think about the practice of community archaeology and heritage studies across the globe Long hidden from view African experiences and experiments with participatory archaeology and heritage studies have poignant lessons to convey about local initiatives local needs and local perspectives among communities as diverse as an Islamic community on the edge of an ancient city in Sudan to multi ethnic rural villages near rock art sites in South Africa Straddling both heritage studies and archaeological practice this volume incorporates a range of settings from practical experiments with sustainable pottery kilns in Kenya to an elite palace and its hidden traditional heritage in Northwestern Tanzania to ancestral knowledge about heritage landscapes in rural Ethiopia The genesis of participatory practices in Africa are traced back to the 1950s with examples of how this legacy has played out over six decades setting the scene for a deeply rooted practice now gaining widespread acceptance The chapters in this book were originally published in the Journal of Community Archaeology and Heritage Transforming Heritage Practice in the 21st Century John H. Jameson,Sergiu Musteață,2019-06-14

Recent years have witnessed a rapid increase in the fields of cultural heritage studies and community archaeology worldwide with expanding discussions about the mechanisms and consequences of community participation This trend has brought to the forefront debates about who owns the past who has knowledge and how heritage values can be shared more effectively with communities who then ascribe meaning and value to heritage materials Globalization forces have created a need for contextualizing knowledge to address complex issues and collaboration across and beyond academic disciplines using more integrated methodologies that include the participation of non academics and increased stakeholder involvement Successful programs provide power sharing mechanisms and motivation that effect more active involvement by lay persons in archaeological fieldwork as well as interpretation and information dissemination processes Withthe contents of this volume we envision community archaeology to go beyond descriptions of outreach and public engagement to more critical and reflexive actions and thinking The volume is presented in the context of the evolution of cultural heritage studies from the 20th century expert approach to the 21st century people centered approach with public participation and community involvement at all phases of the decision making process The volume contains contributions of 28 chapters and 59 authors covering an extensive geographical range including Africa South America Central America Western Europe Eastern Europe North America and Australasia Chapters provide exemplary cases in a growing lexicon of public archaeology where power is shared within frameworks of voluntary activism in a wide diversity of cooperative settings and stakeholder interactions Working as Indigenous Archaeologists George Nicholas,Joe Watkins,2024-09-30

Working as Indigenous Archaeologists explores the often contentious relationship between

Indigenous and other formerly colonized peoples and Archaeology through their own voices Over the past 35 plus years the once novel field of Indigenous Archaeology has become a relatively familiar part of the archaeological landscape It has been celebrated criticized and analyzed as to its practical and theoretical applications and its political nature No less important are the life stories of its Indigenous practitioners What has brought some of them to become practicing archaeologists or heritage managers What challenges have they faced from both inside and outside their communities And why haven t more pursued Archaeology as a vocation or avocation This volume is a collection of 60 autobiographical chapters by Indigenous archaeologists and heritage specialists from around the world some community based some academic some in other realms who are working to connect past and present in meaningful and especially personal ways As Archaeology continues to evolve there remain strong tensions between an objective science oriented evidentiary based approach to knowing the past and a more subjective relational humanistic approach informed by local values traditional knowledge and holistic perspective While there are no maps for these new territories hearing directly from those Indigenous individuals who have pursued Archaeology reveals the pathways taken Those stories will provide inspiration and confidence for those curious about what lies ahead This is an important volume for anyone interested in the present state and future of the archaeological discipline

Archaeology Outside the Box Hans Barnard, 2023-05-15 Archaeology Outside the Box makes contemporary archaeology germane to the general public as well as to researchers in other disciplines In thirty one richly illustrated chapters a wide variety of projects is presented by an international group of anthropologists archaeologists architects and artists These aim to broaden the applicability of archaeology by reflecting on archaeological remains in novel ways or by addressing contemporary concerns with archaeological theory and research methods Demonstrating the fascinating and pertinent nature of archaeology the authors go far beyond its definition as a discipline that unearths objects of ancient material culture Many chapters also provide arguments relevant to the soul searching discussions currently taking place within archaeology worldwide and accelerated by the Black Lives Matter movement and the recent Covid 19 pandemic The Routledge

Community-based Heritage in Africa Peter R. Schmidt, 2017-03-03 This volume provides a powerful alternative to the Western paradigms that have governed archaeological inquiry and heritage studies in Africa. Community-based Heritage Research in Africa boldly shifts focus away from top-down community engagements usually instigated by elite academic and heritage institutions to examine locally initiated projects. Schmidt explores how and why local research initiatives, which are often motivated by rapid culture change caused by globalization, arose among the Haya people of western Tanzania. In particular, the trauma of HIV/AIDS resulted in the loss of elders who had performed oral traditions and rituals at sacred places, the two most recognized forms of heritage among the Haya, as well as distinct alternatives to the authorized heritage discourse favored around the globe. Examining three local initiatives, Schmidt draws on his experience as an anthropologist invited to collaborate and co-produce with the Haya to provide a poignant rendering of the successes, conflicts, and failures that punctuated their participatory community research efforts. This frank appraisal privileges local voices and focuses attention on the unique and important contributions that such projects can make to the preservation of regional history. Through this blend of personalized narrative and analytical examination, the book provides fresh insights into African archaeology and heritage studies.

Archaeology and Ethnography Along the Loango Coast in the South West of the Republic of Congo Gerry Wait, Ibrahima Thiaw, 2018-09-30 This book presents the results of the Environmental and Social Impact Assessment (ESIA) project in the southwest region of the Republic of the Congo, undertaken to identify and evaluate cultural resources which might need further investigation.
