With original interdisciplinary research from experts in their legal fields this is a rounded assessment of the complex interplay of law and sustainability both as it is now and as it should be in the future

Rural Revitalization Through State-led Programs Mingrui Shen, 2020-02-06 This book seeks to unravel the changes in rural governance sparked by state led programs evaluate the programs implementation and refine the interpretation of governance theory with new empirical material from rural China When it comes to rural issues in contemporary China there is no shortage of national strategies from Coordinating Urban Rural Development in 2003 to Rural Revitalization in 2017 the rejuvenation of the countryside has attracted unprecedented policy interest At the same time rural governance has been subject to significant political social and economic changes However comparatively little research has been conducted on the phenomenal reconnection between the state and rural society and our previous understanding of rural governance is no longer adequate As a result of the programs a new model of governance is now emerging in rural China The programs have accelerated the formation of state private farmer partnerships while also promoting the participation of grassroots society in rural reconstruction In the initial stage the state s role is important to securing non governmental sectors engagement However this does not mean that the model guarantees sustainable governance in terms of land tenure reform infrastructure investment and subsidies the programs merely empower farmers and other stakeholders to engage in rural reconstruction The success of these reconstruction efforts ultimately depends on a suitable pricing mechanism for public goods provision as well as the self organization of grassroots society

A Research Agenda for Global Rural Development Terry Marsden, Claire Lamine, Sergio Schneider, 2020-10-30 Setting out a new path breaking research agenda for global rural development this timely book offers an innovative and embedded rural social science capable of both understanding and enacting progress towards diverse and sustainable pathways It relocates rural development at the heart of global trends associated with widespread but uneven urbanization climate change and severe resource depletion rising population growth density and inequality and global political economic and health crises

Soviet Power and the Countryside N. Melvin, 2003-11-04 Drawing upon extensive archival and other original sources Soviet Power and the Countryside offers a new approach to understanding the political dynamics that led to the collapse of the Soviet order A detailed analysis of the design implementation and collapse of Soviet policy toward the countryside is used to explore the implications of a broadening of participation in the policy process from the 1960s Neil J Melvin argues that the new knowledge about rural society created as a result of this process provided the basis for a fundamental change in the nature of power relations in the Soviet order leading to the decay and eventual collapse of policy making institutions
