Crisis System Petter Naess, Leigh Price, 2016-06-17 This book throws light onto the nature and causes of three different but strongly interconnected crises in contemporary societies worldwide an economic crisis an ecological crisis and a normative moral and political crisis These crises are reflected in the profoundly inequitable distribution of wealth resources and life opportunities around the world If we follow the causal roots of these crises we are led back to an inherent dynamic in the capitalist economic system itself discursively expressed as neoclassical mainstream economics For instance by conflating human needs with market demand mainstream economics disregards the needs of those who do not have sufficient purchasing power as well as any needs that cannot be quantified or monetised in some way Mainstream economics also ignores the notion of natural limits Furthermore it seems that everything that is quantifiable is potentially for sale and this results in the substitution of nature indigenous cultural traditions and various life forms with commodities and human capital The latter is defined as the skills instrumental for continual economic growth Besides critiquing the academic discipline of economics this book also points to a number of dysfunctional and crisis prone structures and practices of substantive economic life It will be of interest to students and scholars working in philosophy economics and environmental studies

Enlightened Common Sense Roy Bhaskar, 2016-07-01 Since the 1970s critical realism has grown to address a range of subjects including economics philosophy science and religion It has become a complex and mature philosophy Enlightened Common Sense The Philosophy of Critical Realism looks back over this development in one concise and accessible volume The late Roy Bhaskar was critical realism s philosophical originator and chief exponent He draws on a lifetime s experience to give a definitive systematic account of this increasingly influential international and multidisciplinary approach Critical realism s key element has always been its vindication and deepening of our understanding of ontology Arguing that realist ontology is inexorable in knowledge and action Bhaskar sees this as the key to a new enlightened common sense From the definition of critical realism and its applicability in the social sciences to explanation of dialectical critical realism and the philosophy of metaReality this is the essential introduction for students of critical realism

An Exploration of Prehistoric Ontologies in the Bering Strait Region Feng Qu, 2021-01-07 This book introduces readers to the belief and symbolism present in the prehistoric art of the Bering Strait region For about a century the archaeology of this area has mainly focused on material economic and technological perspectives leaving studies of prehistoric spirituality religion and cosmology to be under conceptualized This text questions the nature of materiality and the relationship between it and spirituality It employs an analytical and methodological approach located within the frameworks of practice theory and animist ontologies to open up thought provoking avenues for interpretive possibility This book also provides new knowledge about the prehistoric material culture of ancient Inuit people and offers an assessment of contemporary archaeological theories such as cognitive archaeology structural archaeology and shamanism theory in order to examine the reliability of these theories in the studies of prehistoric art According to the ontological trend which has constituted a powerful challenge to traditional nature culture and body mind dichotomies this book reconsiders prehistoric Inuit cultures providing an analysis of therianthropic motifs on prehistoric ivories to explore potential shamanism within ontological and cosmological structures A Complex Integral Realist Perspective Paul Marshall, 2016-07-01 This book sketches the contours of a vision that moves beyond the dominant paradigm or worldview that underlies and governs modernity and postmodernity. It does so by drawing on the remarkable leap in human consciousness that occurred during the Axial Age and on a cross pollination of what are arguably the three most comprehensive integrative metatheories available today: Complex thought, integral theory, and critical realism, i.e. a complex integral realism. By deploying the three integrative metatheories, this book recounts how the seeds of a number of biases within the Western tradition—analytical over dialectical epistemology over ontology, presence over absence and exterior over interior—were first sown in axial Greece, later consolidated in European modernity, and then challenged throughout the 20th century. It then discusses the remedies provided by the three integrative philosophies, remedies that have paved the way for a new vision. Outlining a new axial vision for the twenty-first century which integrates the best of premodernity, modernity, and postmodernity within a complex integral realist framework, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of the Axial Age, critical realism, integral theory, and complex thought. It will also appeal to those interested in a possible integration of the insights and knowledge gleaned by science, spirituality, and philosophy.

Resilience in Social-Ecological Systems Marianne E. Krasny, Cecilia Lundholm, Ryan Plummer, 2013-10-18 Resilience thinking challenges us to reconsider the meaning of sustainability in a world that must constantly adapt in the face of gradual and at times catastrophic change. This volume further asks environmental education and resource management scholars to consider the relationship of environmental learning and behaviours to attributes of resilient social-ecological systems, attributes such as ecosystem services, innovative governance structures, biological and cultural diversity, and social capital. Similar to current approaches to environmental education and education for sustainable development, resilience scholarship integrates social and ecological perspectives. The authors of Resilience in social-ecological systems the role of learning and education present a wealth of perspectives integrating theory with reviews of empirical studies in natural resource management and in youth, adult, and higher education. The authors explore the role of education and learning in helping social-ecological systems as they respond to change through adaptation and transformation. This book also serves to integrate a growing literature on resilience and social learning in natural resources management with research in environmental education and education for sustainable development. This book was originally published as a special issue of Environmental Education Research.

Structure, Culture and Agency Tom Brock, Mark Carrigan, Graham Scambler, 2016-11-10 Professor Margaret Archer is a leading critical realist and major contemporary social theorist. This edited collection seeks to celebrate the scope and accomplishments of her work, distilling her theoretical and empirical contributions into four sections which capture the essence and trajectory of her research over almost four decades. Long fascinated with the problem of structure and agency, Archer's work has constituted a decade-long engagement with this perennial issue of social thought. However, in spite of the deep interconnections that unify her body of work, it is rarely treated as a coherent whole This is doubtless in part due to the unforgiving rigour of her arguments and prose but also a byproduct of sociology's ongoing compartmentalisation This edited collection seeks to address this relative neglect by collating a selection of papers spanning Archer's career which collectively elucidate both the development of her thought and the value that can be found in it as a systematic whole This book illustrates the empirical origins of her social ontology in her early work on the sociology of education as well as foregrounding the diverse range of influences that have conditioned her intellectual trajectory the systems theory of Walter Buckley the neo Weberian analysis of Lockwood the critical realist philosophy of Roy Bhaskar and more recently her engagement with American pragmatism and the Italian school of relational sociology What emerges is a series of important contributions to our understanding of the relationship between structure culture and agency Acting to introduce and guide readers through these contributions this book carries the potential to inform exciting and innovative sociological research

After the Anthropocene Anne Fremaux, 2019-03-25 The environmental crisis is the most prominent challenge humanity has ever had to battle with and humanity is currently failing The Anthropocene or so called age of humans is indeed a period when the survival of humanity has never been so much at risk This book locates itself in the field of critical green political theory Fremaux's analysis of the current environmental crisis calls for us to embrace radical shifts in our modes of being or in other words socially progressive innovations that will be described within the unique framework of Green Republicanism In offering a constructive and emancipatory delineation of what could be considered an ecological civilization that is respectful of its natural environment and social differences this book describes how to shift from an arrogant speciesism and materialistic lifestyle to a post anthropocentric ecological humanism focusing on the good life within ecological limits This new political regime calls for a radical reinvention of our societies a decentering of the humans within our metaphysical worldview and a withdrawal of the capitalist technosphere at the benefit of the biosphere It will require a new economic paradigm that replaces the unsustainable capitalist logic of growth by sustainable degrowth and steady economics Rooted in ethical thinking and political philosophy this book seeks to offer a concrete roadmap of how sustainable societies can be fostered

Queer Ecopedagogies Joshua Russell, 2021-04-09 This volume builds on the momentum surrounding queer work within environmental education while also encouraging new connections between environmental education research and the growing bodies of literature dedicated to queer deconstructions of categories such as nature environment and animal The book is composed of submissions that engage with existing literature from queer ecology queer theory and various explorations of sexuality and gender within the context of human animal nature relationships The book deepens and diversifies environmental education by providing new theoretical and methodological insights for scholarship and practice across a variety of educational contexts Queer pedagogies provide important critical points of view for educators who seek broader goals centred around social and ecological justice by encouraging counter hegemonic views of bodies nature and community The scope of this book is multi or interdisciplinary in order to cast a wide net around what kinds of spaces relationships and practices are considered educational pedagogical or curricular The volume includes chapters that are conceptual theoretical and empirical
