Navigating Environmental Attitudes Thomas A. Heberlein,2012-10-11 Solving environmental problems requires a scientific understanding of public attitudes Bringing together theory and practice Navigating Environmental Attitudes provides a realistic understanding of why and how attitudes matter when it comes to environmental problems and how by balancing natural with social science we can step back from false assumptions and unproductive frustrating programs to work toward fostering successful effective environmental action Transforming Urban Transport Diane E. Davis,Alan A. Altshuler,2019 Transforming Urban Transport brings into focus the origins and implementation pathways of significant urban transport innovations that have recently been adopted in major democratically governed world cities that are seeking to advance sustainability aims It documents how proponents of new transportation initiatives confronted a range of administrative environmental fiscal and political obstacles by using a range of leadership skills technical resources and negotiation capacities to move a good idea from the drawing board to implementation The book s eight case studies focus on cities of great interest across the globe Los Angeles Mexico City New York Paris San Francisco Seoul Stockholm and Vienna many of which are known for significant mayor leadership and efforts to rescale power from the nation to the city The cases highlight innovations likely to be of interest to transport policy makers from all corners such as strengthening public transportation services vehicle and traffic management measures repurposing roads and other urban spaces away from their initial function as vehicle travel corridors and turning sidewalks and city streets into more pedestrian friendly places for walking cycling and leisure Aside from their transformative impacts in transportation terms many of the policy innovations examined here have altered planning institutions public private sector relations civil society commitments and governance mandates in the course of implementation In bringing these cases to the fore Transforming Urban Transport advances

Urban Access for the 21st Century Elliott Sclar, Måns Lönnroth, Christian Wolmar, 2014-03-05 This book sets out a road map for the provision of urban access for all. For most of the last century cities have followed a path of dependency on car dominated urban transport favouring the middle classes. Urban Access for the 21st Century seeks to change this. Policies need to be more inclusive of the accessibility needs of the urban poor. Change requires redesigning the existing public finance systems that support urban mobility. The aim is to diminish their embedded biases towards automobile based travel. Through a series of chapters from international contributors the book brings together expertise from different fields. It shows how small changes can incentivize large positive developments in urban transport and create truly accessible cities.

Transport Models in Urban Planning Practices Marco te Brömmelstroet, Luca Bertolini, 2016-04-08 This book explores how transportation models can play a role in a changing transport planning and policy making context. Most models are rooted in decades of development work and are geared to offer value free academic and explicit knowledge to transport planning experts. However planning practice has changed dramatically over the years resulting in a less technical rational view on the use of such knowledge especially so in early strategy making phases. More and more complex policy goals integration of a wide area of other policy domains a wider ever changing and much more mixed group of planning participants and much more focus on wicked problems. The book maps how this influences the effectiveness of transport modelling exercises and explores several state of the art implementations. This book was published as a special issue of Transport Reviews.

Invisible Bicycle, 2018-09-11 The Invisible Bicycle brings together different insights into the social cultural and economic history of the bicycle and cycling in historical eras of ubiquitous bicycle use that have remained relatively invisible in bicycle history. It revisits the typical timeline of cycling's decline in the 1950s and 1960s and the renaissance beginning in the 1970s by bringing forth the large national and local variations varying uses and images of the bicycle and different bicycle cultures as well as their historical background and motivations. To understand the role possibilities and challenges of the bicycle today it is necessary to know the history that has formed them. Therefore The Invisible Bicycle is recommended also to present day practitioners and planners of bicycle mobility.
