the privatisation of religion are in tension with his basing of a conservative political settlement on transcendent bonds The author then examines alternatives to secular conservatism especially the chief religious and metaphysical commitments of early conservatives Edmund Burke and Joseph de Maistre Finally in seeking to establish a foundational argument for religion by establishment within the conservative tradition and more broadly to unify the diverse commitments and objections of conservatives the author develops a case that draws on Scruton s personalism as well as the thought of Martin Buber Andrew Pinsent and Robert Spaemann In the course of developing his foundational argument the author incorporates findings from experimental psychology and themes from contemporary theology The result is a convincing argument in favour of establishmentarian conservatism as well as the role of religious ideas in our self understanding as individuals and as a political community Conservatism and Grace will appeal to scholars and advanced students interested in political philosophy philosophy of religion theology and the history of conservatism
