Complex Systems and Population Health Yorghos Apostolopoulos, Kristen Hassmiller Lich, Michael K. Lemke, 2020-05-29 Currently population health science is an integral part of global academic curricula For over a century the principles of the reductionist paradigm have guided population health curricula training research and action Researchers continue to draw upon these principles when theorizing conceptualizing designing studies analyzing and devising interventions to tackle complex population health problems However unresolved impasses in addressing pressing population health challenges have catalyzed calls for the integration of complex systems science grounded approaches into population health science Mounting evidence denotes that a complex systems paradigm can bring about dramatic multipronged changes for education and training and lead to innovative research interventions and policies Despite the large and untapped promise of complex systems the haphazard knowledge base from which academics researchers students policymakers and practitioners can draw has slowed their integration into the population health sciences This volume fulfils this growing need by providing the knowledge base necessary to introduce a holistic complex systems paradigm in population health science As such it is the first comprehensive book in population health science that meaningfully integrates complex systems theory methodology modeling computational simulation and real world applications while incorporating current population health theoretical methodological and analytical perspectives It is intended as a programmatic primer across a broad spectrum of population health stakeholders from university professors and graduate students to researchers policymakers and practitioners

Seeing History: Public History in China LI Na, 2023-11-06 When public history was imported from the United States to China around the turn of the twenty first century it was introduced as a sub field within history and has developed along that path ever since Professional historians in China even some forward looking ones see public history as merely presenting a change in the patterns of participation in history making This book offers a sharply different view It contends essentially that public history represents more than a research domain within history or within any existing discipline nor does it fit into any established narratives but rather a fundamental change of the entire process of history making in China In this process the public is prosuming history Public history makes obsolete the old structure for building and acquiring historical knowledge it challenges the old assumptions supersedes the rigid academic hierarchy and stirs the imaginations of the multitudes With an assemblage of case studies this work makes a case for a system view of public history making or public history ing and launches a concept complex public history i e public history ing as complex adaptive systems

The Fifth Wave Michael M. Crow, William B. Dabars, 2020-04-14 Out of the crises of American higher education emerges a new class of large scale public universities designed to accelerate social change through broad access to world class knowledge production and cutting edge technological innovation America s research universities lead the world in discovery creativity and innovation but are captive to a set of design constraints that no longer aligns with the changing needs of society Their commitment to discovery and innovation which is carried out largely in isolation from the socioeconomic challenges faced by most Americans threatens to impede the capacity of these institutions to contribute decisively and consistently to the collective good The global preeminence of our leading institutions moreover does not correlate with overall excellence in American higher education Sadly admissions practices that flatly exclude the majority of academically qualified applicants are now the norm in our leading universities both public and private In The Fifth Wave Michael M Crow and William B Dabars argue that colleges and universities need to be comprehensively redesigned in order to educate millions more qualified students while leveraging the complementarities between discovery and accessibility Building on the themes of their prior collaboration Designing the New American University this book examines the historical development of American higher education the first four waves and describes the emerging standard of institutions that will transform the field What must emerge in this Fifth Wave of universities Crow and Dabars posit are institutions that are responsive to the needs of students focused on access embedded in their regions and committed to solving global problems The Fifth Wave in American higher education Crow and Dabars write comprises an emerging league of colleges and universities that aspires to accelerate positive social outcomes through the seamless integration of world class knowledge production with cutting edge technological innovation This set of institutions is dedicated to the advancement of accessibility to the broadest possible demographic that is representative of the socioeconomic and intellectual diversity of our nation Recognizing the fact that both cooperation and competition between universities is essential if higher education hopes to truly serve the needs of the nation Fifth Wave schools like Arizona State University are already beginning to spearhead a network spanning academia business and industry government agencies and laboratories and civil society organizations Drawing from a variety of disciplines including design economics public policy organizational theory science and technology studies sociology and even cognitive psychology and epistemology The Fifth Wave is a must read for anyone concerned with the future of higher education in our society Advanced Strategic Management Mark Jenkins,Véronique Ambrosini,Nardine Collier,2017-09-16 This core textbook is concerned with the managerial decisions processes and activities that allow the creation and implementation of a strategy Advanced Strategic Management adopts a multi perspective approach to evaluate and challenge assumptions about what strategy is concerned with and thus strengthen students understanding of strategic management This new third edition weaves together theoretical debate and practical insights to enrich the way in which strategy is both viewed and enacted Written by leading experts this is an engaging and challenging resource perfect for undergraduate and postgraduate students taking strategy courses New to this Edition Fully revised and updated content throughout A new detailed introduction and conclusion which link together the ideas and different perspectives throughout the book Socioeconomic Evaluation of Megaprojects Markku Lehtonen,Pierre-Benoît Joly,Luis Aparicio,2016-11-22 The governance and evaluation of megaprojects that is large scale complex high stakes infrastructure projects usually commissioned by governments and delivered through partnerships between public and private organisations is receiving increased attention However megaproject evaluation has hitherto largely adopted a linear rationalist perspective to explain the frequent failure of such projects to meet the iron triangle of performance criteria delivering on time within budget and according to specifications This approach recommends greater control and accountability to remedy megaproject pathologies Drawing on empirical examples mainly from the transport sector and radioactive waste disposal this book offers new perspectives to megaproject evaluation Comprising contributions from leading experts in project evaluation and appraisal this collection opens up new avenues by suggesting two ways of improving megaproject evaluation 1 approaches that go beyond the dominant linearrationalist notion of policy processes and emphasise instead the objective of opening up appraisal processes in order to enhance learning and reflexivity and 2 approaches that extend evaluative criteria beyond the iron triangle to cover the various socioeconomic impacts and preconditions for project success This volume will be of great relevance to scholars and practitioners with an interest in megaprojects energy and climate policy radioactive waste management urban design and project planning and management
