Citizenship After Orientalism An Unfinished Project:

Citizenship After Orientalism Engin Isin, 2015-10-14 This collection offers a postcolonial critique of the ostensible superiority or originality of Western political theory and one of its fundamental concepts citizenship The chapters analyse the undoing uncovering and reinventing of citizenship as a way of investigating citizenship as political subjectivity If it has now become very difficult to imagine citizenship merely as nationality or membership in the nation state this is at least in part because of the anticolonial struggles and the project of reimagining citizenship after orientalism that they precipitated If it has become difficult to sustain the orientalist assumption the question arises how do we investigate citizenship as political subjectivity after orientalism This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies Citizenship After Orientalism

Engin Isin, 2016-04-29 This edited volume presents a critique of citizenship as exclusively and even originally a European or Western institution It explores the ways in which we may begin to think differently about citizenship as political subjectivity

The Crisis of Citizenship in the Arab World, 2017-04-24 The Crisis of Citizenship in the Arab World argues that the present crisis of the Arab world has its origins in the historical legal and political development of state citizen relations since the beginning of modern history in the Middle East and North Africa The anthology covers three main topics Part I focuses on the crisis of the social pact in different Arab countries as it became manifest during the Arab Uprisings Part II concentrates on concepts of citizenship in Islamic doctrine Islamic movements Muslim Brotherhood and Salafism secular political movements and Arab thinkers Part III looks into the practices that support the claims to equal rights as well as the factors that have obstructed full citizen rights such as patronage and clientelism Contributors are Ida Almestad Claire Beaugrand Assia Boutaleb Michaëlle Browers Nils Butenschøn Anthony Gorman Raymond Hinnebusch Engin F Isin Rania Maktabi Roel Meijer Emin Poljarevic Ola Rifai James Sater Rachel Scott Jakob Skovgaard Petersen Robert Springborg Stig Stenslie Morten Valbjørn Knut S Vikør and Sami Zemni Citizenship Richard Yarwood, 2013-12-17 The idea of citizenship is widely used in daily life Citizenship tests are used to determine who can inhabit a country citizen charters have been used to prescribe levels of service provision citizens juries are used in planning or policy enquiries citizenship lessons are taught in schools youth organisations attempt often aim to instil good citizenship active citizens are encouraged to contribute voluntary effort to their local communities and campaigners may use citizens rights to achieve their goals What is meant by citizenship is never static and the subject of debate by academics politicians and activists These ideas are manifest and contested at a range of different scales This book therefore argues geography is crucial to understanding citizenship The text is organised around a number of spatial themes to examine how spatialities of citizenship are played out at a range of scales Ideas about locality boundaries mobility networks rurality and globalisation are used to reveal the importance of space and place in the constitution contestation and performance of citizenship In doing so the book reveals how different ideas of citizenship can include or exclude people from society and space Consideration is given to ways in which different groups have sought to empower themselves through various actions associated with and beyond conventional notions of citizenship Written in an accessible way with detailed case studies to illustrate conceptual ideas and approaches this book offers social scientists new spatial perspectives on citizenship while also bridging together strands of social cultural and political geography in ways that deepen understandings of people and place Reconsidering Chinese Citizenship Canglong Wang,Zhenzhou Zhao,Zhonghua Guo,2025-04-03 This book reconsiders the concept of Chinese citizenship through the lens of cultural traditions and their deep historical roots It challenges the state s monolithic interpretation of culture exploring how cultural practices influence citizenship in modern China The contributors to this volume examine how various actors from government forces to grassroots activists engage in culture informed citizenship practices They highlight the role of political ideology spirituality Confucianism and minority religious traditions in shaping citizenship discourse By broadening the understanding of Chinese citizenship beyond its Western centric frameworks this book delves into issues of socioeconomic injustice cultural recognition and the negotiation of civic rights Readers are offered new perspectives on how China s unique cultural heritage intertwines with its political structures providing a nuanced understanding of citizenship in rapidly changing societies This thought provoking analysis will engage anyone interested in Chinese politics culture and the development of citizenship in a global context The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies Future Practices of Citizenship in Asia and the West Gregory Bracken,Paul Rabé,Nurul Azreen Azlan,2025-10-01 Future Practices of Citizenship in Asia and the West investigates some of the greatest challenges facing society in the twenty first century including the struggle for rights and recognition by indigenous peoples women migrants and the young as well as the dampening effects some government responses to COVID 19 have had on artistic freedom and citizen participation The ill effects of digitisation on citizenship however are tempered by some more positive approaches from grass roots activities Perhaps the most acute challenge facing the world today is climate change an issue that can be both positive and negative depending on how we respond to it All the papers in this book share a people centred approach based around Michel Foucault s Care of the Self Gendered Citizenship Natasha Behl,2019-07-03 It has been shown time and again that even though all citizens may be accorded equal standing in the constitution of a liberal democracy such a legal provision hardly guarantees state protections against discrimination and political exclusion More specifically why do we find pervasive gender based discrimination exclusion and violence in India when the Indian Constitution supports an inclusive democracy committed to gender and caste equality In Gendered Citizenship Natasha Behl offers an examination of Indian citizenship that weaves together an analysis of sexual violence law with an in depth ethnography of the Sikh community to explore the contradictory nature of Indian democracy which gravely affects its institutions and puts its citizens at risk Through a situated analysis of citizenship Behl upends longstanding academic assumptions about democracy citizenship religion and gender This analysis reveals that religious spaces and practices can be sites for renegotiating democratic participation but also uncovers how some women engage in religious community in unexpected ways to link gender equality and religious freedom as shared goals Gendered Citizenship is a groundbreaking inquiry that explains why the promise of democratic equality remains unrealized and identifies potential spaces and practices that can create more egalitarian relations

The Rise of Confucian Citizens in China Canglong Wang, 2023-07-07 This book explores the relationship between Confucianism and citizenship and the rise of Confucian citizens in contemporary China Combining theoretical and empirical approaches to the topic the book constructs new frameworks to examine the nuances and complexities of Confucianism and citizenship exploring the process of citizen making through Confucian education By re evaluating the concept of citizenship as a Western construct and therefore challenging the popular characterization of Confucianism and citizenship as incompatible this book posits that a new type of citizen the Confucian citizen is on the rise in 21st century China The book s clear accessible style makes it essential reading for students and scholars interested in citizenship Confucianism and Chinese studies and those with an interest in religion and philosophy more generally

Women and the Islamic Republic Shirin Saeidi, 2022-01-27 Based on extensive interviews and oral histories as well as archival sources Women and the Islamic Republic challenges the dominant masculine theorizations of state making in post revolutionary Iran Shirin Saeidi demonstrates that despite the Islamic Republic s non democratic structures multiple forms of citizenship have developed in post revolutionary Iran This finding destabilizes the binary formulation of democratization and authoritarianism which has not only dominated investigations of Iran but also regime categorizations in political science more broadly As non elite Iranian women negotiate or engage with the state s gendered citizenry regime the Islamic Republic is forced to remake oftentimes haphazardly its citizenry agenda The book demonstrates how women remake their rights responsibilities and statuses during everyday life to condition the state making process in Iran showing women s everyday resistance to the state making process
