and language Each chapter questions the neoliberal market mantra that education must be rebranded into a marketable product and consumed by individuals making a complex and compelling ethnographic argument that the market mantra is bankrupt The authors argue that globalization produces liminal subjects and leads to the destruction of social institutions like education that are essential to democratic governance The aim of each article is to uniquely disentangle the dynamics of the process so as to resolve the mystery of how globally inspired paradigms and policies mix with locally defined structures and cultures In assessing globalization's relationship to educational change we need to know how globalization and its ideological packaging affect schooling from transnational paradigms to national policies and to local practices This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Qualitative Studies in Education Journal of Proceedings and Addresses of the ...
