Confessions of a Neurasthenic William Taylor Marrs, 2018-07-30 Confessions of a Neurasthenic By William Taylor Marrs A few weeks later I chanced to see a sleight of hand performance and I at once decided that the art of legerdemain would be more easily learned than the Gospel work so I began to practice along this line by extracting potatoes and other sundries from the nasal appendages of members of the household I was succeeding admirably I thought until one day in attempting to eat cotton and blow fire out of my mouth I burnt my tongue painfully and became so disgusted that I abandoned the idea of becoming a showman In turn I had fully made up my mind to become a huckster an auctioneer a scissors grinder a peanut vender an editor an artist a book keeper etc My natural selection being always something that I thought would not require great energy We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience
