Consciousness Revisited Materialism Without Phenomenal Concepts Representation And Mind Series:

Consciousness Revisited Michael Tye, 2011-08-19 Four major puzzles of consciousness philosophical materialism must confront after rejecting the phenomenal concept strategy We are material beings in a material world but we are also beings who have experiences and feelings How can these subjective states be just a matter of matter To defend materialism philosophical materialists have formulated what is sometimes called the phenomenal concept strategy which holds that we possess a range of special concepts for classifying the subjective aspects of our experiences In Consciousness Revisited the philosopher Michael Tye until now a proponent of the the phenomenal concept strategy argues that the strategy is mistaken A rejection of phenomenal concepts leaves the materialist with the task of finding some other strategy for defending materialism Tye points to four major puzzles of consciousness that arise How is it possible for Mary in the famous thought experiment to make a discovery when she leaves her black and white room In what does the explanatory gap consist and how can it be bridged How can the hard problem of consciousness be solved How are zombies possible Tye presents solutions to these puzzles solutions that relieve the pressure on the materialist created by the failure of the phenomenal concept strategy In doing so he discusses and makes new proposals on a wide range of issues including the nature of perceptual content the conditions necessary for consciousness of a given object the proper understanding of change blindness the nature of phenomenal character and our awareness of it whether we have privileged access to our own experiences and if we do in what such access consists

Consciousness, Seeing, and Knowing, digital original edition Michael Tye, 2014-01-10 The philosopher Michael Tye reversing his previous position rejects the phenomenal concept strategy which holds that we possess a range of special concepts for classifying the subjective aspects of our experiences and formulates another approach for defending materialism In this BIT he examines one puzzle of consciousness that philosophical materialism must confront after rejecting the phenomenal concept strategy

Theories of Consciousness William Seager, 2016-02-12 Despite recent strides in neuroscience and psychology that have deepened understanding of the brain consciousness remains one of the greatest philosophical and scientific puzzles The second edition of Theories of Consciousness An Introduction and Assessment provides a fresh and up to date introduction to a variety of approaches to consciousness and contributes to the current lively debate about the nature of consciousness and whether a scientific understanding of it is possible After an initial overview of the status and prospects of physicalism in the face of the problem of consciousness William Seager explores key themes from Descartes the founder of the modern problem of consciousness He then turns to the most important theories of consciousness identity theories and the generation problem higher order thought theories of consciousness self representational theories of consciousness Daniel Dennett's theory of consciousness attention based theories of consciousness representational theories of consciousness conscious intentionality panpsychism neutral monism Thoroughly revised and expanded throughout this second edition includes new chapters on animal consciousness reflexive consciousness

combinatorial forms of panpsychism and neutral monism as well as a significant new chapter on physicalism emergence and consciousness The book's broad scope depth of coverage and focus on key philosophical positions and arguments make it an indispensable text for those teaching or studying philosophy of mind and psychology It is also an excellent resource for those working in related fields such as cognitive science and the neuroscience of consciousness

The Relational View of Perception Farid Masrour, Ori Beck, 2025-02-28 Relationalism is the view in philosophy of mind that particulars in our environment are constituents of conscious perception It is an important theory of perceptual experience offering explanations of perception's phenomenal character and its epistemic and semantic role However it has also been criticised for a lack of empirical grounding In this outstanding collection an international team of contributors examine relationalism and consider its role in philosophy of mind and perception across four key areas The significance of empirical evidence to the theory of relationalism Dependence of experience on the subject's internal makeup Hallucinations and the unity of perceptual experience Relationalism and empirical knowledge The Relational View of Perception New Philosophical Essays will be of great interest to advanced students and scholars in philosophy of mind Contributors Dominic Alford Duguid Rami Ali Ori Beck Alex Byrne Elijah Chudnoff Peter Epstein Craig French E J Green Roberta Locatelli Heather Logue Farid Masrour Alva No Adam Pautz Ian Phillips Thomas Raleigh Susanna Schellenberg Umrao Sethi Matthew Soteriou and Lisa Titus

Philosophy of Mind: The Key Thinkers Andrew Bailey, 2013-11-21 Exploring what great philosophers have written about the nature of thought and consciousness Philosophy of Mind The Key Thinkers offers a comprehensive overview of this fascinating field Thirteen specially commissioned essays written by leading experts introduce and explore the contributions of those philosophers who have shaped the subject and the central issues and arguments therein The modern debate about the mind was shaped by Descartes in the seventeenth century and then reshaped in the mid twentieth century and since by exciting developments in science and philosophy This book concentrates on the development of philosophical views on the mind since Descartes offering coverage of the leading thinkers in the field including Husserl Ryle Lewis Putnam Fodor Davidson Dennett and the Churchlands Crucially the book demonstrates how the ideas and arguments of these key thinkers have contributed to our understanding of the relationship between mind and brain Ideal for undergraduate students the book lays the necessary foundations for a complete and thorough understanding of this fascinating subject

Dreaming Jennifer M. Windt, 2015-06-05 A comprehensive proposal for a conceptual framework for describing conscious experience in dreams integrating philosophy of mind sleep and dream research and interdisciplinary consciousness studies Dreams conceived as conscious experience or phenomenal states during sleep offer an important contrast condition for theories of consciousness and the self Yet although there is a wealth of empirical research on sleep and dreaming its potential contribution to consciousness research and philosophy of mind is largely overlooked This might be due in part to a lack of conceptual clarity and an underlying disagreement about the nature of the phenomenon of dreaming itself In Dreaming Jennifer Windt lays the groundwork for solving this problem She develops a conceptual framework describing not only what it means to say that dreams are conscious experiences but also how to locate dreams relative to such concepts as perception hallucination and imagination as well as thinking knowledge belief deception and self consciousness Arguing that a conceptual framework must be not only conceptually sound but also phenomenologically plausible and carefully informed by neuroscientific research Windt integrates her review of philosophical work on dreaming both historical and contemporary with a survey of the most important empirical findings This allows her to work toward a systematic and comprehensive new theoretical understanding of dreaming informed by a critical reading of contemporary research findings Windt s account demonstrates that a philosophical analysis of the concept of dreaming can provide an important enrichment and extension to the conceptual repertoire of discussions of consciousness and the self and raises new questions for future research

Consciousness and Object Riccardo Manzotti,2017-10-19 What is the conscious mind What is experience In 1968 David Armstrong asked What is a man and replied that a man is a certain sort of material object This book starts from his question but proceeds along a different path The traditional mind brain identity theory is set aside and a mind object identity theory is proposed in its place to be conscious of an object is simply to be made of that object Consciousness is physical but not neural This groundbreaking hypothesis is supported by recent empirical findings in both perception and neuroscience and is herein tested against a series of objections of both conceptual and empirical nature the traditional mind brain identity arguments from illusion hallucinations dreams and mental imagery The theory is then compared with existing externalist approaches including disjunctivism realism embodied cognition enactivism and the extended mind Can experience and objects be one and the same
