Sugar Daddy Capitalism Peter Fleming, 2018-11-26 What is the connection between the sleaziness of Harvey Weinstein's business meetings and the passionless doctrine of neoclassical economics In this witty and incisive examination of the new economy Peter Fleming argues that they are closer than you might think The quest to rid society of bureaucracy shrink government and burn red tape has certainly made capitalism more human but not in the family friendly way envisaged by free market gurus Increasing informality has led to a capitalism fuelled by limitless exploitation and increasingly seedy methods of management from semi feudal workplace hazing rituals and predatory middle managers with an axe to grind to arbitrary zero hours contracts Uber and perhaps worst of all the compulsory gym session with your boss Fleming dubs this Sugar Daddy Capitalism after the controversial dating app wealthy businessmen use to meet young girls most of whom are struggling with university fees What seems like a creepy outlier is actually a prescient metaphor for our whole economy an anonymous and impersonal cash system that is also intent on getting under your skin extra close and capable of ruining everything if you say no

Nashville Beer

Chris Chamberlain, 2014-10-21 Nashville's main industry is music. But where good tunes go, good booze follows, so it's no surprise that the city enjoys a lively local beer scene as well. The city's brewing history dates back to the 1800s when German immigrants first settled in the area. The rise and fall of Gerst Brewing Company, one of the first established Nashville breweries, left people thirsting for local beer after the company closed its doors in 1954. In the last decade of the century, a boom of brewpubs brought the drinking class some newer, more exotic styles of beer, and the people of Nashville have been under the influence of creative brewing ever since. Food, beverage, and travel writer Chris Chamberlain tells the story of beer from the Music City and introduces us to the breweries and beer lovers that make up a local scene well worth raising a glass to.
